Fredrik. From Sweden. Tour operator in different countries until he met his Norwegian girlfriend. He combines working at Klubben and studying a master of Spanish linguistics at the university. He is planning to combine both jobs, teacher and waiter. He loves being the one breaking the ice with groups like ours.

Sebastian. From Norway. The audio technician who made sure all presentations and videos could work perfectly well. He is 20 and studies in England, but he is going back home after his studies.

María Luisa. From Spain. She married a Norwegian in 1992. She likes Norwegian society because everyone has the same rights and there are no distinctions. Everyone respects everyone. Learning the language was a huge challenge but she succeeded.

Marcos, the chef. From Argentina. The man in white. He was a professional football player in Argentina for 7 years but he realised that he wouldn't earn a living with it so he studied gastronomy. He was awarded chef of the year in Santiago de Chile in 2006. He arrived in Norway in 2008. He worked as executive chef at Grand Hotel in Oslo from 2014 to 2016. He prepared dinner for the King and 3 Nobel Prizes. Can you understand now why the food was so good?
